Assets Specification

As part of our due diligence process, we conducted an independent review of the on-chain balances associated with the referenced blockchain wallet address. This verification involved examining publicly available blockchain data to confirm the existence and availability of digital assets held within the wallet at the time of assessment.

The review was performed by analyzing current on-chain records, ensuring that the balances observed are transparently recorded, verifiable, and consistent with the amounts reported. This process provides confirmation that the wallet maintains sufficient funds as demonstrated by its on-chain holdings at the time of verification.
